Year PREP/1 News

This week the prep/1s have been investigating the properties of materials. We have been exploring which materials are best to make a boat which floats. We asked - is the material waterproof? Can it bend or be folded to make sides? Is it heavy or light? We predicted if our boats would float, then experimented to see if we were right. The real test came when we put two marbles into our boat. Would it still float with the extra weight? And I'm pleased to report that some of the best designs in the class survived the test
